

Billionaire Investors Going “All In” on 5G Revolution!

According to Qualcomm CEO Steve Mollenkopf, 5G wireless “will have an impact similar to the introduction of electricity.”

Investors have ALREADY doubled their money following the 5G plays of billionaire investors like Warren Buffett, Dan Loeb, Carol Icahn, Paul Singer and Masa Son – and they’re just getting started.

Bryan Rich here.

Today I’d like to tell you why I believe 5G wireless represents one of the greatest investing opportunities in our lifetimes.

In my view, 5G is nothing less than a full-blown industrial revolution... one that will fuel the global economy for the next 50 years...

... the way PCs fueled the economy in the 1980s and ‘90s...

... and the Internet fueled the economy in the 2000s and beyond.

That’s because 5G is NOT merely a new technology.

Instead, it’s quite literally the underlying infrastructure of the world’s future economy.

Ultra-fast, omnipresent wireless networks all over the world are making possible the technological breakthroughs just now appearing – from driverless cars and robots to advanced health monitoring devices and drone delivery.

And without 5G, these technologies will be dead in their tracks.

That's why the world's most successful billionaire investors believe that 5G Wireless will be as essential to the global economy as oil or steel.

- CNN Business says 5G “will truly revolutionize the world.”
- Qualcomm CEO Steve Mollenkopf says that 5G “will have an impact similar to the introduction of electricity.”
- And Günther Oettinger, a European digital commissioner, says “5G will be the backbone of our digital economies and societies worldwide.”

What's more, some of the smartest investors in the world – billionaires like Warren Buffett, Carl Icahn and Masa Son – are going “all in” on 5G stocks.

Cash in on the Biggest Investing

Opportunity Since Apple's iPhone!

You see, these market visionaries understand that the global economy is NOT teetering on the brink of collapse, as many in the media claim.

Instead, it's still in the midst of a MASSIVE, long-overdue rebound from the 2008 recession.

Despite the recent volatility in the stock market, the current economic boom will continue for years, not months.

And the trade war with China... far from being an obstacle to this global boom... is actually an essential part of it. For the global economy to move forward, China's currency manipulations and predatory trade practices had to be resolved – and they are!

What all this means is that investors with steady nerves have a once-in-a-generation opportunity to build real and lasting wealth – and 5G is the quickest and best way to do that.

Investing in the Right 5G Companies Will Be

Like Investing in Apple at $2 Per Share

The reality behind this new industrial and technological revolution is actually far bigger than even the media hype.

5G simply refers to the 5th Generation of the wireless Internet connectivity currently being built out all over the world.

The first wireless network was launched in 1981, more than 38 years ago.

This was followed by the second generation of wireless, 2G, in 1992. For the first time, digital applications were possible on telephones... but they were super-slow, only 9.6 kilobytes per second (Kbs).

Then came 3G in 2001. It represented a HUGE upgrade in speed to 200 kbs and made video on cell phones possible for the first time – but again, in a very primitive way.

4G arrived in 2010, with download speeds of 20 to 100 Mbps, which made it possible to watch movies and other streaming content.

And now 5G is arriving on the scene – with connection speeds of 20,000 Mbps.

That's between 200 and 1,000 times faster than current wireless networks. And it will essentially make Wifi and routers obsolete.

But 5G is about a lot more than speed.

It also involves upgrades in reliability and privacy that will allow wireless Internet to be used for essential, life-saving technologies – such as robot-controlled surgeries – as well as for military and police applications.

What's more...

5G is 100% Essential for the Entire Global Economy

The robot-driven shipping vehicles just on the horizon will require constant access to the Internet via 5G networks.

The same is true of the so-called Internet of Things (IoT), the hooking up of everyday devices to the Internet.

Very soon, it won't be merely your TV or Fitbit that will be online.

Everything you own will be connected to the Internet via 5G networks – from your car to your refrigerator, your dog's license to your lawnmower.

And for investors, 5G represents an opportunity that only comes around about once per decade.

After EACH major wireless upgrade... 2G, 3G and 4G...

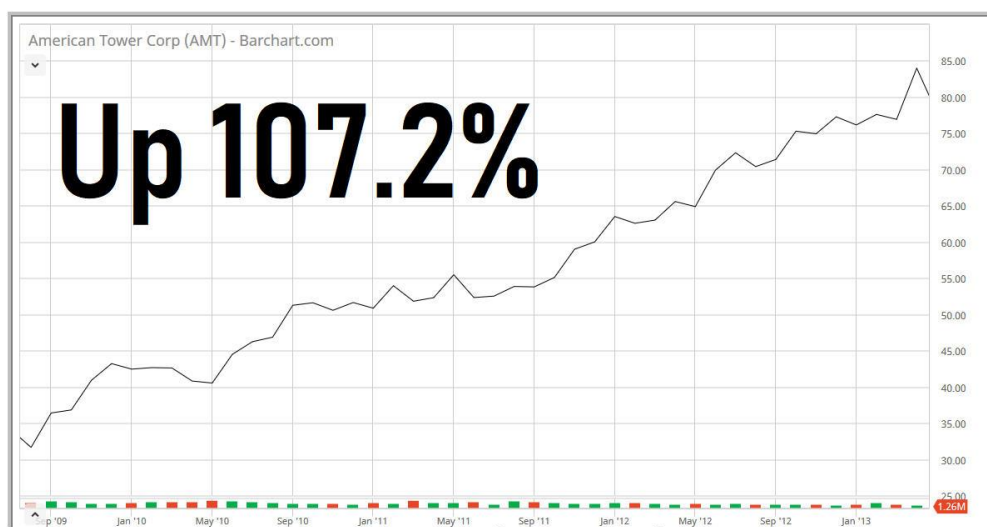

Wireless Infrastructure Stocks Have Made Early Investors Rich as Midas

For example, Apple was a huge winner with 4G because its popular iPhone took full advantage of the video capabilities of the network, seeing its stock rise from $27 a share in 2010 to $95 just two years later – a gain of 251.8%.

Cell tower companies, such as American Tower, also saw enormous gains after 4G came on the scene.

American Tower (AMT) went from $40.54 a share in May 2010 to $84 by April 2013 – a gain of 107.2%.

And those were just the short-term gains.

Investors who recognized the scale of the opportunity, got in early and held on to their shares made life changing profits.

For example, Crown Castle (CCI) – another company that built the 4G network – saw its shares rise from just $14 a share to $130.96 today – a gain of 835.4%.

And unlike many other stocks, Crown Castle shows no sign of slowing down.

The same is true of SBA Communications (SBAC), another company that built the 4G network.

It went from $15.93 per share after the credit crisis to a whopping $216.43 today – a gain of 1,258.6%.

Every $5,000 investment in SBAC back then grew into $67,900 today – and every $50,000 into $679,000.

And SBAC also shows no sign of slowing down, still climbing higher and higher even when the market as a whole has seen big pullbacks.

Unfortunately, you can't just go out and invest in these stocks today.

That's because 5G is a radically different technology from 4G.

Some of the biggest players in 4G, such as Intel, have announced in recent months that they can't compete with the emerging 5G companies and are bowing out.

Yet here's the good news:

You don't have to guess which stocks will be the big players.

The world's billionaire investors are already telling us! They are pouring hundreds of billions of dollars into a few select stocks.

For example, both Bill Gates and George Soros acquired HUGE positions in one particular cell tower company in 2018.

A number of other large investors—including Jim Simons, D.E. Shaw, and Paul Tudor Jones— boosted their holdings, too.

Yet many of these 5G stocks are still way undervalued. That's because the public often only learns about the billionaire investments months, even years after they're made.

It takes the billionaires pouring money into these stocks to reveal and bring to fruition the full potential of these companies.

For example, the Korean-Japanese investor Masayoshi Son – the 43rd richest man on earth with a net worth of $23 billion – invested $20 million in the small Chinese company Alibaba back in 1991, acquiring a 30% stake.

Now his investment is worth $108.7 billion. Or 5,435 times more.

Masa Son believes 5G is a similar opportunity.

He sees 5G as essential for the technologies reshaping the world economy, such as robotics and AI.

Yet unless you follow hedge fund managers closely, you may not know where Masa Son is putting his billions.

And that's why we've prepared a brand-new investing blueprint.

It reveals which 5G stocks the world's most successful investors like the most – and how you can position your portfolio for the kind of explosive growth you only see once a decade, perhaps even once a generation.

The name of this new investing blueprint is...

“5G Blockbusters: How to Earn Windfall Profits from the Coming Wireless Revolution.”

It reveals the most important 5G opportunities being played out right now, including...

5G Blockbuster #1

Legacy Telecom Set to Dominate Global Market

Masayoshi Son's has a 300-year vision for the global economy and he believes ONE company in particular will dominate the 5G market.

It's a legacy telecom giant with the infrastructure in place to take over 5G.

Plus, despite $30 billion in annual sales, this 5G play is currently selling for only $7 a share – a huge discount off its high of $74 a share.

Its position as a 5G player has already led to its shares jumping 27% in the past 12 months... and Masa Son's massive investments in the company signal this sort of accelerating growth is likely to continue.

You'll learn all about it in your free copy of 5G Blockbusters.

5G Blockbuster #2

Global Telecommunications Giant Selling at An 80% Discount

The second big 5G play follows not one but TWO billionaires making ultra-high conviction stakes – Carl Icahn's former chief investment officer Keith Meister and billionaire Mason Hawkins who has put $1 billion into the company.

It's another legacy telecom that is selling for 10 cents on the dollar, 80% off its five-year high. The current price is $11 per share but Meister thinks it's worth $40.

And this one comes with a twist.

The billionaires are investing in this company both for the potential capital gains but also because of its eye-popping current dividend yield of 8.76%.

You'll find out all about it in your copy of 5G Blockbusters.

5G Blockbuster #3

Cell Phone Manufacturer That Could Dominate 5G

The next 5G play is a cell phone manufacturer that the "Warren Buffett of Canada" believes could capture a huge share of the brand-new 5G phone market... an estimated 7.2 billion devices. But it's much more than that.

Cyber-security is one of the foundational promises of 5G.

For this reason, the billionaire behind this company believes it will be at the center of the growth in autonomous car and the multi-trillion dollar "internet of things" market (estimated to contribute $14 trillion to global GDP by 2022).

That's because the company is state-of-the-art when it comes to privacy and cybersecurity on devices.

Microsoft already entered a partnership with the company in 2018 to take advantage of its security technology.

And with double-digit earnings growth, gross margins at 78%, and a war-chest of $2.4 billion in cash, the company's stock has seen impressive growth in recent months, up 26.4% year to date.

It's another turnaround and sell play. You can pick up shares for around $8 today, way off its high of $146.

Again, you'll learn all about this billionaire 5G play in your copy of 5G Blockbusters.

Forbes Billionaire's Portfolio is Unlike Any

Other Investing Advisory in the World

Normally, very few ordinary investors will ever be able to invest directly in the types of investments promoted by billionaires like David Tepper, Carl Icahn, Dan Loeb and Bill Ackman.

For one thing, the SEC requires that investors have a minimum worth of $1 million (excluding one's home) before they can participate.

Second, most ultra-rich hedge fund managers require much higher minimum investments to get into their exclusive funds (like $20 million).

Fortunately, Forbes Billionaire's Portfolio lets you profit from the investing genius of top billionaire investors step for step.

You piggyback on the trades of the smartest, richest investors in the world. When they buy, you buy. When they sell, you sell.

Specifically, the Forbes Billionaire's Portfolio tracks 20 of what we call "campaigns."

Campaigns are the specific wealth-building investments that billionaire investors and hedge funds are currently engaged in promoting.

You see, when billionaire investors like Warren Buffett, Carl Icahn or Masa Son put their money into a company, they usually do so with a strategic purpose in mind – over months and even years.

They see a unique opportunity and go after it relentlessly – the way Japanese visionary Masa Son is going after 5G

And we simply follow their example.

There's no complicated algorithms involved, no complex stock-picking strategies, no need to hover over your brokerage account.

It's just a common sense approach that works and is proven to result in homerun stocks like you won't believe.

Plus, it doesn't matter if you have $5,000 or $5 million to invest.

Each campaign is scalable. You can start small and grow with us.

In just the past few months, we've pocketed such gains as...

- 53.8% following Paul Singer's lead on BHP...
- 65.7% following Warren Buffett's lead on Apple...
- 75.8% following Starboard Value's lead on Brink's
- 121.5% following Masa Son's lead on Sprint...
- 203% following Perceptive Advisors' lead on Sarepta... and
- 236.5% following Carl Icahn's lead on Freeport McMoRan...

... just to name a few examples.
